BILLIARD PARLOR KEEPERS ORGANIZE

Local Proprietors Meet and Formulate Plans for an Association.

The National Capital is to have a bil ltard association. At a meeting held at the Palace Alleys yesterday morning, an improvised constitution and set of by-laws, similar to that under which the roomkeepers of Philadelphia are govern-ed, were drawn up and adopted by those present. Temporary officers of this new association, which is to be known as the Washington Billiard Association, were elected with Michael Scanlon, as presi-cide upon December 1, as the next meeting day at which time permanent officers be installed and all matters per taining to membership and applications for membership are to be decided upon, Those who attended the meeting were Michael Scanlon, W. D. Allen, Edward Handlboe, Morris Cafritz, Frank Sherman, P. B. Fletcher, Harvey T. B. man, P. B. Fletcher, Harvey T. Rogers, and Harry Armiger. Invitations are to be extended to every one connected with the billiard game in this city to be present at the next meeting.

MOHAWKS TO PLAY

The Mohawk Athletic Club and the Washington Billiard Association, were elected with Michael Scanlon, as president; Frank Sherman, vice president, and P. B. Fletcher, secretary.

For several years efforts have been made at different times to form an organization, or association, of the proprietors of the city's billiard rooms, with a view toward more closely co-operating with the municipal authorities and a general uplift of the pocket and carom game.

Harvard always has had a heady eleven, and each player is required to learn the playing code from cover to cover. They know what will happen if the team is off side, if a man holds an opponent while on the offense, or if a opponent while on the offense, or if a player is caught slugging. They study the game as it should be studied and as a result the other teams are outguessed. Pittsburgh, with Glenn Warner at the helm, also follows this system, and the players derive great benefits from it. When they get into a contest they know what they are doing, and this "inside football" we have read so much about is the result. If other teams will follow the example set by Pitt and Harrard example set by Pitt and Harvard, football will be played and fewer

The tickets for the George Washington same on Thanksgiving Day were issued yesterday. Graduate Manager Cox immediately obtained 1,000 for the student body at the Hillitop, while Manager Hodgkins, of the Hatchetites, took the same number for the students at the downtown institute. The public sale of tickets will be held at Spalding's, starting on Friday. Only 4,100 seats are on sale for the public, and it will be a case of first come first served. This Turkey Day game has always drawn big crowds, 11,000 attending the last contest between these elevens.

Graduate Manager Cox yesterday wired the authorities of the Washington and Lee University that he was willing to have the post-season game played in Washington, and there is no doubt now that this contest will materialize and be played at the Hilltop field on Saturday, December 2.

Navy Believes that West Point Defense Cannot Stop Annapolis Rushes.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22.-Admitting the Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22.—Admitting the superior weight, strength and experience of the Army players, Navy people are hoping to win this year on what they believe to be the better balance of their back field. The Navy has always had a line that proved stanch against direct attack, and it is felt that it will come UP to the standard this year, though up to the standard this year, though some pounds lighter than the Army forwards on the average. Jackson and Garrett are good, even brilliant, ends, and Harrison and Fisher are not far behind them. them, but the unusual number and clever backs is where the particular strength of the Navy team lies. It is well known here that the probable arrangement of the back field at the start of the game Saturday will be Wel-chel, quarter back; Perry, half back; Rob-erts, full back. There is still a possibil-ity that Orr will be used instead of Welchel, but the strong probabilities favor the latter. All of the other positions are practically certain, barring accident, and each member of the backfield is a mem-ber of the new fourth class, something which has never happened in the previous history of the academy. Butler, who will probably be the first back field substitute used, is also a fourth classman.

Of the backs, Roberts, who played on Colgate last season, is the only one who has had experience in college football previous to this year. Whelchel, Perry, Ingram and Butler were all high school players last year. Perry weighs 200 pounds and uses his weight and strength to crash through the line in great style,
but it is his kicking that has assured his place on the team. He punts further than any other member of the squad and also puts the ball high in the air, giving his linemen pienty of chance to set down the field. Lately he has developed much ability as a drop kicker, which has never happened in the previ veloped much ability as a drop kicker, and has scored field goals during each of the last two contests. Ingram is the third brother to play

Ingram is the third brother to play on academy teams. Head Coach Jones Ingram is one, and the other, a lineman, is assistant coach, so that the trio are at Annapolis now. He has done very brilliant work this season. A big, hearty follow, he is very fast and has the knack of picking his way through a broken field without letting down any of his speed. Competent judges feel certain that he will develop into one of the best backs the Navy ever had. Roberts earned a bis reputation at Coigate, and has added to it while at the academy. Butler is a Philisdelphia high school boy. The best Philadelphia high school boy. of the backs from of the backs from last year's squad are Davis, Martin, Hanafee, Von Heimberg and Dashiells.
